

Tribal Land Staff National Conference

The National Tribal Land Association (NTLA) and the Indian Land Tenure Foundation (ILTF) invite you to support the 10th Tribal Land Staff National Conference, the premier education and networking event for tribal land professionals. The theme of the conference in 2021 will be “Back to the future in Indian Country: Reflecting on 2020, reimagining 2021.”

This year’s conference will be held online from March 23rd to 25th, 2021. The 1st Annual Tribal Land Staff National Conference was held in Las Vegas in 2011, with a gathering of 100 tribal land staff from every region of the country. Since then, the conference has tripled in size and representatives from more than 170 tribes have taken part in California, Idaho, Minnesota, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Numerous sponsorships opportunities are available for tribal nations, businesses, government agencies and other organizations. Your sponsorship helps us to provide tribal land professionals with a supportive setting where they can network and share expertise and resources with their peers, while receiving dynamic practical training to strengthen the management of tribal land operations throughout Indian Country.

The virtual format of the 2021 Conference offers an excellent opportunity for businesses, agencies and other organizations to showcase their products and services before a new and expanded audience. Conference attendees include tribal decision-makers and key staff: Tribal Leaders, realty directors, title and records managers, natural resources staff, attorneys, surveyors, GIS specialists and others who work for tribes and oversee ownership and property management issues.

Please review the sponsorship and exhibitor opportunities to determine which ones are right for your organization.
